

Social Prescribing film for London

Social Prescribing supports tackling health inequalities, and following the impacts of Coronavirus the need for Social Prescribing is now even greater. It enables us to target harder to reach groups in our communities and helps to address peoples underlying social needs.

Healthy London Partnership have produced a film that highlights the genuine value of Social Prescribing and demonstrates how instrumental it has been in building and supporting community resilience - linking people to support and advice services around housing, finance, employment, and social welfare etc.

We have brought together Social Prescribing champions from across London to share their experiences and perspective including; Social Prescribing Link Workers, Managers and Commissioners, Clinical Directors and GPs, Primary Care Networks, Voluntary organisations, Local Authority and Public Health.
